

Introduction

MasTec Network Solution's ("MNS") published Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) and Sustainability declarations include a broad range of policies on business and ethics, the environment, and human and labor rights that set the expectations for the employees of MNS and for our supply chain. Our goal as a corporation is to set the standards within our supply chain to ensure that our suppliers, subcontractors and business partners are aware of and committed to the same high standards our clients expect of us and we expect of ourselves.

These published policies represent the general guidelines for MNS and its suppliers and is not intended to be a full and comprehensive resource of MNS policies, guidelines and procedures. Should you require additional information you should consult the applicable policies and guidelines for your specific area of concern. MNS reserves the right to review, amend and update our policies on a continual basis without prior notice. MNS Policies can be found on the web at <http://www.mastecnetworksolutions.com/en/vendors/business-ethics.aspx>

MasTec Network Solutions Policies on Business Practices and Ethics

MasTec Network Solutions ("MNS") mission, values and code of ethics all work together to produce exceptional performance that is focused and ethical. Our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics helps reduce the risk of wrongdoing and enables us to satisfy the law.

Each MNS employee, officer and director is required to adhere to the highest ethical standards and must not be dishonest in dealing with each other, with clients, customers, vendors and all other persons.

All employees, officers and directors must also respect the rights of fellow employees and third parties. Employee, officer and director actions must be free from discrimination, libel, slander and harassment.

Misconduct will not be excused because it was directed or requested by another. All employees, officers and directors are expected to alert management whenever an illegal, dishonest or unethical act is discovered or suspected; employees, officers and directors will never be penalized solely for reporting, in good faith, discoveries or suspicions.

Anti-Bribery

Other than modest gifts given or received in the normal course of business (such as meals or reasonable entertainment), neither employees, officers, directors nor their relatives may give gifts to, or receive gifts from, MNS's clients or vendors. Cash or cash equivalent tips may only be accepted from customers when they are given for superior service without any solicitation and when they represent a modest amount. Cash or equivalent tips from customers should never be accepted in exchange for work, equipment or any other actual consideration. Employees, officers and directors must not provide gifts or entertainment if such action would violate our customer's code of ethics or business conduct. In no event may an employee, officer or director accept any gift in exchange for taking or failing to take any action on behalf of MNS or that would cause third parties to believe that a gift was accepted in exchange for taking or failing to take any action on behalf of MNS.

Dealing with government employees is often different than dealing with private persons. Many governmental bodies strictly prohibit the receipt of any gratuities by their employees, including meals and entertainment. Employees, officers and directors must be aware of and strictly follow these prohibitions.

When dealing with government employees, MNS forbids:

- Giving or accepting any gift in the form of cash or a cash equivalent.
- Engaging in any illegal or unethical act to entice a customer or potential customer to do business with MNS. Do not give inappropriate gifts or provide unusual hospitality to customers or potential customers or their employees that may unfairly influence their purchasing decision. Do not give any gifts that could be construed as a bribe.
- Failing to comply with any applicable law, including the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (discussed below) and other applicable laws governing the payment of monies or anything of value to government officials or candidates for public office. These laws may prohibit or modify marketing activities that are permissible with other customers.
- Accepting, soliciting, or agreeing to pay bribes, kickbacks, gifts of other than nominal value, loans, special privileges, personal favors, unusual hospitality, services or other benefits from a current or prospective supplier, customer, subcontractor, competitor or other individual or organization with which MNS does business, other than customary business amenities such as meals, etc.

Report benefits other than of nominal value promptly to your supervisor and then return them to the donor. In limited situations, MNS may accept reasonable, noncash gifts from a supplier in connection with an event for the general benefit of our employees.

Foreign Corrupt Practices Act

Specifically, with respect to the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (the “FCPA”), MNS has adopted a Foreign Corrupt Practices Act Policy (the “FCPA Policy”) for MNS’s affiliates, subsidiaries, directors, officers, employees, representatives, shareholders and anyone who acts on behalf of MNS in international business activities. The purpose of the FCPA Policy is to ensure compliance with both the FCPA and the related laws of the countries in which MNS and its affiliates do business. The FCPA prohibits the payment of money or anything of value directly or indirectly to officials of a foreign government, public international organization, or a foreign political party by companies in order to obtain business, retain business or to secure any influence or improper advantage. The FCPA also requires that companies keep detailed books, records and accounts that accurately reflect corporate payments and transactions and institute and maintain internal accounting control systems that assure management’s control over MNS’s assets.

The FCPA imposes significant criminal liability on both individuals and corporations for violations of the FCPA. Before offering anything of value to foreign government officials, employees, or representatives, or their family members or associates, you must first consult with MNS’s Legal Department. A copy of the FCPA Policy can be found at www.portal.mastec.com. You can also request a copy of the FCPA Policy from your Human Resources Contact or the Legal Department. Please contact the Legal Department if you have any questions regarding this Policy.

Conflicts of Interest

MasTec Network Solutions (“MNS”) expects its employees, officers and directors to perform their respective duties using their best impartial judgment in all matters affecting MNS. All employees, officers and directors must avoid any personal activity, investment or association that would interfere - or that could appear to interfere - with good and objective judgment concerning the MNS’s best interests. Employees, officers and directors may not exploit their position or relationship with MNS for personal gain and should avoid even the appearance of such a conflict.

For example, there is a likely conflict of interest if an employee, officer or director:

- causes MNS to engage in business transactions with relatives or friends;

In addition to our corporate program that includes assessment of our suppliers, MNS encourages our employees to become sustainability advocates in their personal lives by educating and supporting our employees’ efforts to reduce, reuse and recycle in their homes as well as at work.

Hazardous Substances

RoHS restricts the use of certain hazardous substances in electrical and electronic equipment. As a result of RoHS, manufacturers typically manufacture and distribute CE compliant goods on a global basis. New electrical and electronic equipment containing more than agreed levels of lead, cadmium, mercury, hexavalent chromium, polybrominated biphenyl (PBB) and polybrominated diphenyl ether (PBDE) flame retardants are predominately no longer available.

RoHS-compliant parts have less than or equal to the maximum concentration of 0.1% by weight in homogeneous materials of lead, hex chrome, mercury, PBB, PBDE and 0.01% for cadmium, or qualify for an exemption to the above limits as defined in the Annex of the RoHS Directive.

MNS employees have undergone training to understand and identify RoHS and CE marked products.

MNS material suppliers are surveyed on their current status and compliance with this policy and their efforts to restrict hazardous substances in their supply chain as defined by RoHS.

Conflict Minerals

Conflict minerals are minerals mined in conditions of armed conflict and human rights abuse, most notably in the eastern provinces of the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC). The profits from the sale of conflict minerals may help perpetuate human rights abuses and finance ongoing unrest in the DRC.

The most common conflict minerals that may end up in Information and Communications Technology (ICT) equipment and consumer electronics (computers, tablets and cellular phones) include:

- Gold
- Tin
- Tantalum
- Tungsten

The Dodd-Frank law signed into effect in July 2010 included a section on conflict minerals with the intent on ensuring that minerals do not come from conflict areas of the DRC or fund conflict in the DRC.

Under the law, companies must disclose if the minerals originated in the DRC or in adjoining countries and post a description of measures taken to obtain the source and chain of custody of the minerals as well as provide an independent audit of the report.

MasTec Network Solutions (“MNS”) does not manufacture or sell consumer electronics but is an end user of these devices purchased through our client’s consumer and B2B channels.

MNS’s major clients have established and published Conflict Mineral policies and participate in the Global e-Sustainability Initiative (GeSI). Additionally, MNS installs network elements and infrastructure for wireless and wireline communications which are all approved, designated and supplied through our major client’s supply chain.

MNS’s Conflict Mineral policy is issued to every new supplier, and re-communicated annually to current suppliers. MNS assesses its suppliers on their adherence to this policy on an annual basis.

Hazardous and Regulated Waste Management

Employees who work with or are potentially “exposed” to Chemical or Biological hazards shall receive initial training and any necessary retraining on hazardous materials requirements and the safe use of those materials to ensure employees are not over exposed.

The training provided shall emphasize these elements:

- a) Summary of the standard and this written program, including what hazardous chemicals are present, the labeling system used, and access to hazardous material information and what it means.
- b) The chemical properties of hazardous materials (e.g., flash point, reactivity) and methods that can be used to detect the presence or release of chemicals.
- c) The physical properties of hazardous materials (e.g., potential for fire, explosion, etc.)
- d) Health hazards, including signs and symptoms of exposure associated with exposure to chemical or biological materials along with any medical condition known to be aggravated by these exposures.
- e) The procedures to protect against hazards (e.g., engineering controls; work practices or methods to assure proper use and handling of chemicals; personal protective equipment required, and its proper use, and maintenance; and procedures for reporting chemical emergencies.)

Child Labor, Involuntary Labor, Physical Coercion and Human Trafficking

MasTec Network Solutions (“MNS”) is committed to conducting our business and operations in an environment that is free from child labor, human trafficking and forced labor. This policy covers all suppliers, subcontractors and associates of MNS.

Child labor is defined as work that deprives children of their childhood, their potential and their dignity, and that is harmful to physical and mental development. Any work that is mentally, physically, socially or morally dangerous and harmful to children; and interferes with their schooling by depriving them of the opportunity to attend school or obliges them to leave school prematurely or requires them to attempt to combine school attendance with excessively long and heavy work.

Human trafficking is the recruitment, transportation, transfer, harboring or receipt of persons, by means of the threat or use of force or other forms of coercion, of abduction, of fraud, of deception, of the abuse of power or of a position of vulnerability or of the giving or receiving of Involuntary labor is involuntary work or service that is obtained from an individual under the threat of force or penalty. Involuntary or forced labor often takes place in situations in which persons are physically coerced to work through the use of violence or coerced through intimidation or by more subtle means such as accumulated debt, retention of identity papers or threats of denunciation to immigration authorities.

MNS will not tolerate the use of unlawful or forced labor in the manufacture of products or services it sells and will not accept products or services from Suppliers that employ or utilize unlawful or forced labor in any manner. Human trafficking and slavery are crimes under state, federal and international law.

MNS has implemented a comprehensive corporate social responsibility program to ensure that we operate within the highest standards of business ethics and in accordance with all applicable laws and regulations.

As good corporate citizens, MNS does not conduct business with any suppliers that engage in human trafficking, child labor or forced labor. As part of our comprehensive social responsibility program, we engage with our suppliers on a continual basis and conduct annual surveys which assess and affirm our suppliers' compliance and adherence to our published Corporate Social Responsibility policies.
